

New London Dungeons

London, SE1

Client: Collins Construction

Project Value: c£937,000

Scope of Works

The Electrical Installation of the New London Dungeons

The project comprised the complete fit out of the new London Dungeons, including testing and verification of the existing supplies and distribution equipment, & the provision of new electrical supplies serving the lighting, rides and specialist equipment. The works included new main switchpanels & submains cabling, distribution boards & AV panels, lighting, emergency lighting and lighting controls, including specialist & maintenance lighting to themed areas & rides. Also the supply and installation of specialist boards to control many of the specialist effects, backed-up by various IPS/UPS systems & diesel generators. The project also covered all design elements of the DDA regulations & Part L of the Regulations. The new London Dungeon is located at the old County Hall Building next to the London Eye.
